01/04/2013	124	ORDER granting 99 MOTION in Limine Permitting Evidence of Pleas and Plea Agreements . The Court hereby authorizes the Government to introduce evidence of co-conspirator witnesses' guilty pleas and plea agreements at trial provided that the Court provides the jury with a cautionary instruction. See United States v. Thompson, 449 F.3d 267, 274 (1st Cir. 2006); United States v. Dworken, 855 F.2d 12, 30 (1st Cir. 1988) (evidence of witness's guilty pleas is admissible to "dampen the effect of an anticipated attack on the witness's credibility" provided jury is so instructed). Additionally, the Government may comment on the guilty pleas and the plea agreements during its opening and closing arguments. See United States v. Ladd, 877 F.2d 1083, 1088 (1st Cir. 1989)(quoting United States v. Magee, 821 F.2d 234, 241 (5th Cir. 1987)("The government was entitled to outline for the jury its expected evidence which included testimony by convicted co-conspirators; thus, the disclosure [about their guilty pleas and status as convicted co-conspirators] served a legitimate purpose..."); United States v. Hansen, 434 F.3d 92, 102 (1st Cir. 2006)(finding no improper vouching when the prosecution mentioned a witness' plea agreement during its closing). Finally, the defense may also mention any potential interests that the witnesses may have in diminishing their sentence. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/4/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/04/2013)

01/04/2013	125	ORDER granting 100 MOTION in Limine Permitting Evidence of Existence of Agreement. Prosecution witnesses may testify as to opinions they have formed, based upon first-hand knowledge, regarding the existence of an illicit agreement. See United States v. Standard Oil Co. , 316 F.2d 884, 890 (7th Cir. 1963) ("witnesses in antitrust cases have uniformly been permitted to testify concerning the existence of agreements and understandings"). Such testimony does not constitute expert testimony and is proper lay testimony permissible under Rule 701. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/4/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/04/2013)
01/04/2013	126	ORDER granting in part and denying in part 101 MOTION in Limine Permitting Evidence of Pre-Charged Events. Without more specifics on the evidence the Government intends to introduce, the Court cannot rule on the admissibility of said evidence at this juncture. Although the Court will not analyze hypothetical scenarios, the Court will generally state that, within the parameters of Rule 403's balancing test as well as Rule 404, the Government may introduce evidence relating to events that predate the alleged conspiracy provided in the Indictment for the purposes of, inter alia, demonstrating past business practices, intent, motive or to otherwise provide the jury with a more fulsome understanding of the charges against the Defendant. However, Peake, may not be convicted for acts occurring prior to the dates alleged in the Indictment. Accordingly, the Government is to inform the Court when at trial it intends to introduce such evidence as the Court must perform the requisite Rule 403's balancing test. Additionally, the Court must provide the jury with a mitigating and qualifying instruction that the evidence is being presented for the purposes of potentially demonstrating motive and/or intent and is not presented for the purposes of demonstrating an overt act as these events occurred outside of the time period alleged in the Indictment. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/4/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/04/2013)
01/04/2013	127	ORDER granting in part and denying in part 102 MOTION in Limine to Exclude Evidence Regarding Lack of Specific Intent or Mistake of Law. Intent is required in any criminal prosecution arising out of the Sherman Act. United States v. United States Gypsum Co. , 438 U.S. 422, 436-43 (1978). Accordingly, the Government must demonstrate Peake's intent to conspire to engage in anti-competitive practices and Peake is entitled to refute the Government's efforts to do so. However, as the instant Indictment alleges a per se violation of the Sherman Act, the Government is not required to demonstrate a further intent that envisions the actual anti-competitive results of the alleged conspiracy. See United States v. Nippon Paper Indus. Co. , 109 F.3d 1, 7 (1st Cir. 1997)(the Gypsum Court made it plain that intent need not be shown to prosecute criminally 'conduct regarded as per se illegal because of its unquestionably anticompetitive effects.' This means, of course, that defendants can be convicted of participation in price-fixing conspiracies without any demonstration of a specific criminal intent to violate the antitrust laws.)(quoting Gypsum , 438 U.S. at 440); United States v. Koppers Co. , 652 F.2d 290, 296 n.6 (2d Cir. 1981)("Where per se conduct is found, a finding of intent to conspire to commit the offense is sufficient; a requirement that intent go further and envision actual anti-competitive results would reopen the very questions of reasonableness which the per se rule is designed to avoid."); United States v. Gillen , 599 F.2d 541, 550 (3d Cir. 1979)("the government need not prove that the defendant knew that the effects of the conduct or the conduct itself were proscribed, since mistake or ignorance of the law is no defense."). Similarly, in compliance with Rule 401 as well as to conserve judicial resources and to avoid jury confusion, the defense is not permitted to present evidence that Peake did not or could not envision the actual anti-competitive results of the alleged conspiracy. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/4/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/04/2013)
01/04/2013	128	ORDER granting 103 MOTION in Limine to Exclude Evidence Regarding Economic Justification. The parties are authorized to discuss the prices within the cabotage market. Sea Star's pricing and how Sea Star made its pricing decisions. However, as the instant Indictment alleges a per se violation of the Sherman Act, the defense is not authorized to argue that per se illicit conduct is in anyway justified by sound business judgments or economic sense or necessity. Similarly, the defense is prohibited from arguing that any purported agreements set reasonable, fair or competitive prices; created real or imagined efficiencies; or were necessary to avoid ruinous competition. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/4/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/04/2013)
01/04/2013	129	ORDER granting 105 MOTION in Limine to Preclude Evidence and Argument Aimed at Jury Nullification. In an effort to minimize jury confusion, the parties are hereby prohibited from presenting evidence or arguments related to possible punishments or the potential effects of a conviction on Peake. Such considerations are outside the providence of the jury and have no bearing on the jury's primary task of deciding Peake's guilt or innocence. Similarly, decisions related to prosecutorial discretion, that is who to charge with what and when, are also outside of the jury's providence and thus not germane to their considerations. Hence, such evidence shall not be presented to the jury. However, evidence relating to immunity, cooperation and plea agreements of witnesses are relevant and thus permissible. Finally, evidence relating to the personal characteristics of Peake, such as age, health and financial means, are impermissible. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/4/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/04/2013)

01/10/2013	141	ORDER granting 104 MOTION in Limine to Preclude Impeachment with Law Enforcement Reports. Peake is prohibited from introducing the contents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's form designated FD-302 ("302") or other law enforcement interview memoranda to impeach a witness when the witness has not adopted the report, as in the witness has not signed or otherwise approved of the report or the notes were not a substantially verbatim report of the interview. See Campbell v. United States , 373 U.S. 487, 492 n.6 (1963). Similarly, the defense is barred from insinuating to the jury that an unadopted report is the statement of the witness. See Palermo v. United States , 360 U.S. 343, 350 (1959) (Congress ascertained that it would "be grossly unfair to allow the defense to use statements to impeach a witness which could not fairly be said to be the witness' own rather than the product of the investigator's selections, interpretations and interpolations."). IT IS SO ORDERED.Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/10/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/10/2013)
01/10/2013	142	ORDER denying 123 Motion to Exclude Untimely Exhibits. The Court finds that the United States complied with the stipulated protective order by producing all potential trial exhibits then known to the United States. Furthermore, the Court determines that the United States acted prudently in waiting for the Court to rule on Defendant's motion to suppress and motion for a protective order before incurring potentially needless litigation expenses. After the Court issued its ruling, the United States also acted expeditiously in promptly reviewing the materials on the Defendant's laptop and producing those materials. As the United States provided Defendant with the forty exhibits in question approximately two weeks before trial, the Court additionally ascertains that Defendant will not suffer any prejudice by the late production of documents. Alternatively, upon a motion by the defense, the Court would be amenable to continuing the trial date to allow Defendant more time to review the forty exhibits. See United States v. Sepulveda , 15 F.3d 1161 (1st Cir. 1993)("When discovery material makes a belated appearance, a criminal defendant must ordinarily seek a continuance if he intends to claim prejudice."). In such instances of delay production, the proper remedy is to provide additional time to the purportedly aggrieved party to cure any alleged prejudice rather than to entirely exclude the materials at issue. See United States v. Guzman , 282 F.3d 56, 59 (1st Cir. 2002)("the law frowns on the exoneration of a defendant for reasons unrelated to his guilt or innocence, and, accordingly, the power to dismiss charges based solely on government misconduct must be used sparingly.... At the very least, [to demonstrate prosecutorial misconduct] the defendant must show that the challenged conduct violates commonly accepted norms of fundamental fairness and is shocking to the universal sense of justice."); United States v. Santana , 6 F.3d 1, 10 (1st Cir. 1993)("While we have expressed the view that courts should be willing to consider invoking their supervisory powers to secure enforcement of better prosecutorial practice and reprimand of those who fail to observe it, we have repeatedly cautioned that such powers must be used sparingly. Potent elixirs should not be casually dispensed.") (internal citations and quotations omitted); United States v. Osorio , 929 F.2d 753, 757-758 (1st Cir. 1991). Such public policy is consistent with ensuring that all matters, civil and criminal, are properly resolved squarely on the merits. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/10/2013. 01/22/2013	167	ORDER granting 158 Motion to Admit Business Records. The United States seeks to admit certain business records of Sea Star and Horizon such as financial statements and business expenses; personnel policy statements and compensation records; expenses reports, price announcements and sales data; and phone records. The Court determines that these records are relevant under Federal Rule of Evidence 401 and also probative under Rule 403. Additionally, the Court concludes that the records are kept in the "regularly conducted activity" of the businesses and are properly "accompanied by a written declaration of its custodian or other qualified person" pursuant to Rule 901(11). As Rule 901(11) has been satisfied, the Court further determines that the business records may be admissible in accordance with the so-called business records exception to the rule against hearsay, Rule 803(6). See United States v. Munoz-Franco, 487 F.3d 25, 39-40 (1st Cir. 2007); FTC v. Direct Mktg. Concepts, Inc., 624 F.3d 1, 16 (1st Cir. 2010). IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/22/2013.(JD) (Entered: 01/22/2013)
01/22/2013	168	ORDER denying 162 Motion to Exclude Evidence of Wealth. The Court finds that evidence of Defendant's salary and bonuses are relevant under Federal Rule of Evidence 401. Additionally, the Court concludes that such evidence's probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger Defendant identified of class bias or of unfair prejudice under Rule 403. Defendant's compensation structure, arguably, demonstrates that he had a financial interest in the success of the conspiracy and thereby provides a motive for Defendant to have allegedly participated in the conspiracy. Accordingly, the Court ascertains that evidence of Defendant's salary and bonuses is admissible as said evidence will have a tendency to make his motive to participate in the conspiracy more or less probable and this evidence's probative value is substantially out weighted by the danger of class prejudice. To minimize any such class bias, the United States is not introducing evidence of Defendant's overall net worth, assets or lifestyle, and, in any event, the Court will provide the jury with a limiting instruction to ensure that the jury does not view said evidence for any impermissible purpose. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/22/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/22/2013)
01/22/2013	169	ORDER denying 163 Motion to Exclude Evidence Related to Profit and Loss. The United States is authorized to introduce into evidence Sea Star's profit and loss statements as the Court finds that they are relevant under Federal Rule of Evidence 401 and probative under Rule 403. Baci's testimony regarding Sea Star's finances both before and during the conspiracy provide a factual basis for the introduction of these financial documents. Additionally, the records demonstrate that Sea Star was running a deficit before the conspiracy and subsequently turned profitable once the conspiracy commenced; hence, the evidence may have a tendency to make the existence of the conspiracy more or less probable. IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R. Dominguez on 1/22/2013. (JD) (Entered: 01/22/2013)
01/22/2013	170	ORDER granting 152 Motion to Admit Summary Charts. Upon considering the volume and complexity of the phone records at issue, the United States is hereby authorized to introduce into evidence four charts summarizing voluminous phone records pursuant to Rule 1006, provided that a summary witness lays the proper foundation during his or her testimony at trial. The Court determines that the instruction of said summary charts "will remove logistic or cognitive barriers to the jury's discharge of its duties." See United States v. Appolon, 695 F.3d 44, 61 (1st Cir. 2012). For identical reasons, the Court hereby authorizes the United States to additionally introduce into evidence a summary chart of Peake's compensation pursuant to Rule 1006 and Rule 611(a), again, provided that a summary witness lays the proper foundation. See United States v. Milkiewicz, 470 F.3d 390, 397 (1st Cir. 2006)("Such [Rule 611(a)] summaries most typically are used as pedagogical devices to clarify and simplify complex testimony or other information and evidence or to assist counsel in the presentation of argument to the court or jury.... The lines between these two types of summary documents [under Rules 1006 and 611(a)] are easily blurred.") (internal citations and quotations omitted). IT IS SO ORDERED. Signed by Judge Daniel R.
