The requirement that Defendant actually register a clone or an offspring of a clone, and only that requirement, is stayed pending resolution of Defendant's appeal motion for stay of equitable relief. This Order does not stay the requirement that the Defendant develop appropriate rules for the registration of clones and their offspring. Motion terminated: 178 Emergency MOTION to Stay re 165 MOTION to Stay re 144 Judgment,, of Equitable Relief Pending Appeal filed by American Quarter Horse Association. 12/02/2013	180	ORDER: re: 165 Motion for Stay of Equitable Relief Pending Appeal. While the Plaintiffs will clearly be damaged by a stay, the full amount of the damages cannot be determined until it actually occurs. On the other hand, the interests of persons who are not parties to this case will be affected by reliance on registration of clones or offspring of clones. Therefore, the Judgment of this case is stayed to the extent, but only to the extent, that American Quarter Horse Association is required to actually register clones or the offspring of clones pending resolution of the appeal. This Order does not stay the Judgment otherwise, and specifically does not stay the requirement the Defendant immediately develop appropriate rules for the registration of clones and their offspring.
