The HSR Act

HSR Act

- Hart-Scott-Rodino Act<sup>1</sup>
  - Enacted in 1976 and implemented in 1978
  - Applies to large mergers, acquisitions and joint ventures
  - Imposes reporting and waiting period requirements
    - Preclosing reporting to both DOJ and FTC by each transacting party
    - Post-filing waiting period before parties can consummate transaction
  - Authorizes investigating agency to obtain additional information and documents from parties during waiting period through a “second request”
  - Designed to alert DOJ/FTC to pending transactions to permit them to investigate—and, if necessary, challenge—a transaction prior to closing
    - Idea: Much more effective and efficient to block or fix anticompetitive deal prior to closing than to try to remediate it after closing
  - Not jurisdictional: Agencies can review and challenge transactions—
    - Falling below reporting thresholds
    - Exempt from HSR reporting requirements
    - “Cleared” in a HSR merger review—no immunity attaches to a transaction that has successfully gone through a HSR merger review

■ Basic materials

- The HSR Act, 15 U.S.C. § 18a (also known as Section 7A of the Clayton Act)
- The HSR Act implementing regulations<sup>1</sup>
- Formal FTC interpretations of the implementing regulations
- Informal staff interpretations of the implementing regulations
- The HSR reporting form and instructions

■ Administration

- The FTC Premerger Notification Office (PNO) is responsible for the procedural administration of the premerger notification program under the HSR Act
- There is a “clearance process” to allocate HSR filings to the DOJ and FTC for substantive review<sup>2</sup>
- Once a filing has been “cleared” to an agency for review, the filing is sent to the appropriate investigating section for review, investigation, and possible challenge

<sup>1</sup> 16 C.F.R. pts 801-803. The C.F.R. is the Code of Federal Regulations. It is an annually updated codification of the general and permanent rules published in the Federal Register by the departments and agencies of the Federal Government. The departments and agencies usually promulgate these rules and regulations pursuant a congressional delegation of power and have the force of law. The rulemaking process is governed by the Administrative Procedure Act (APA).

HSR Act Reportability

Basic prohibition

■ Section 7A(a)

[N]o person shall acquire, directly or indirectly, any voting securities or assets of any other person, unless both persons (or in the case of a tender offer, the acquiring person) file notification . . . and the waiting period . . . has expired . . .<sup>1</sup>

■ A reportable transaction is one that—

- Involves the acquisition of voting securities or assets
- Satisfies the thresholds for prima facie reportability<sup>2</sup>
- Does not fall into one of the exemptions provided by the HSR Act or implemented by the HSR Rules

■ Thresholds are adjusted annually for inflation

- Beginning in FY 2005, the reporting thresholds are adjusted annual by the percentage changes in the gross national product during the prior fiscal year compared to the gross national product for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2003.

Acquisition of voting securities or assets

- The HSR Act applies only to acquisitions of voting securities or assets
- Voting securities
  - “[S]ecurities which at present or upon conversion entitle the owner or holder thereof to vote for the election of directors of the issuer”<sup>1</sup>
- Assets
  - No special definition
  - The acquisition of a 50% or greater ownership interest in a non-corporate entity (such as a partnership or LLC) is regarded as an acquisition of the entity’s underlying assets
  - An exclusive license is regarded as an asset

Acquisition of voting securities or assets

■ Acquisition

- Obtaining the “beneficial interest” in the underlying voting securities or assets
- Does not require a formal transfer of legal title
  - Example: Company A has a signed purchase agreement to acquire the voting securities of Company B from its parent company. Although the transaction has not yet closed, Company A is influencing the operational management decisions of Company B. Given this influence, the agencies will view Company A as having obtained a beneficial interest in Company B and hence to have acquired Company B for HSR Act purposes.

Prima facie reportability<sup>1</sup>

Size of transaction*	Prima Facie Reportability
Up to and including $92.0 million	Not reportable
Above $92.0 million up to and including $368.0 million	Reportable if : (1) satisfies the “size of person” test, and (2) no exemption applies    Acquiring person $184.0 million (in total assets or annual net sales) Or $184.0 million (in total assets or annual net sales) Or $18.4 million (in total assets or annual net sales)   Size of person test and and and   Acquired person $18.4 million (in total assets or annual net sales of a person engaged in manufacturing) $18.4 million (in total assets of a person not engaged in manufacturing) $184.0 million (in total assets or annual net sales)
In excess of $368.0 million	Reportable absent an exemption

* Based on the value of voting securities and assets the acquiring person will hold as a result of the acquisition, including the value of any previously acquired voting securities.

Prima facie reportability

- Assessing HSR acquisition values
  - Asset acquisitions
    - Acquisition price + value of assumed liabilities
  - Voting securities acquisitions
    - Acquisition price for voting securities to be acquired + value of voting securities already held
    - Note: Acquisitions of minority interests can be reportable
  - Acquisitions of ownership interests in LLCs, partnerships and other noncorporate entities
    - Acquisition price for non-corporate interests to be acquired + value of interests
    - Note: For an acquisition for a noncorporate entity to be reportable, the acquisition must result in the “control” of the acquired person
      - For HSR Act purposes, “control” is defined as the right to 50% or more of the entity’s profits and/or 50% or more of the entity’s assets upon dissolution

Selected exemptions

- Intraperson
  - Acquiring and acquired person are the same
- Investment
  - Hold no more than 10% of target's outstanding voting securities
    - 15% for certain institutional investors
  - Acquirer must have a purely passive investment intention
    - Any membership on the board of directors or other involvement in the management of the company (other than voting shares) voids exemption
- Convertible voting securities
  - Acquired securities have no present voting rights
- Acquisitions of non-U.S. assets
  - Must not generate sales in or into the U.S. of more than $92.0 million
- Acquisitions of non-U.S. voting securities by non-U.S. persons that either
  - Do not confer control over the target, or
  - Do not involve assets in the U.S., or sales in or into the U.S., over $92.0 million

Notification thresholds

- An otherwise reportable transaction is not subject to the reporting and waiting period requirements of the HSR Act if
  1. The reporting and waiting period requirements were satisfied within the last five years for a prior acquisition, and
  2. The pending acquisition will not cause the acquiring person to cross a notification threshold

Notification thresholds <sup>1</sup>
$92.0 million
$184.0 million
$919.9 million
25% of the voting securities if their value exceeds $1,839.8 million
50% of the voting securities if their value exceeds $92.0 million

<sup>1</sup> See Revised Jurisdictional Thresholds for Section 7A of the Clayton Act, 86 Fed. Reg. 7870 (Feb. 2, 2021) (effective Mar. 4, 2021).

Premerger Notification

HSR Act filing

- Uses a prescribed form: Requires no—
  - Market definition
  - Calculation of market shares or market concentration statistics
  - Presentation of any antitrust analysis or defense
- Both the acquiring and acquired persons must submit their own filing
- Key information required:
  - Transaction documents (e.g., stock purchase agreement)
  - Annual reports and financial statements
  - Revenues by NAICS codes
  - Corporate structure information
    - Majority-owned subsidiaries
    - Significant minority shareholders
    - Significant minority shareholdings
  - “4(c)” and “4(d)” documents

These are the only parts of the filing that may really inform the agencies of a possible antitrust concern

HSR Act filing

- 4(c) and 4(d) documents
  - 4(c) documents: Four requirements—a
    1. Studies, surveys, analyses or reports
    2. Prepared by or for officers or directors of the company (or any entities it controls)
    3. That analyze the transaction
    4. With respect to markets, market shares, competition, competitors, potential for sales growth, or expansion into product or geographic markets
  - 4(d) documents: Three types—
    1. Confidential Information Memoranda (“CIM”)
    2. Third party advisor documents
    3. Synergy and efficiency documents
  - Failure to provide all 4(c) and 4(d) documents
    - Makes the HSR filing ineffective, so that the waiting period never started
      - Usually discovered by investigating agency in the document production in a second request
      - Agencies have required parties to refile and go through the entire process (including a second second request)
    - Also, civil penalties (fines) for closing a transaction without observing the applicable waiting period

Filing fees

■ Current (2021)

Value of Transaction <sup>1</sup>	Current Filing Fee
Less than $92.0 million	No filing required
$92.0 million or more but less than $184.0 million	$45,000
$184.0 million or more but less than $919.9 million	$125,000
$919.9 million	$280,000

- Paid by the purchaser, unless the parties agree to a different arrangement (e.g., split the fee)

■ Proposed (pending legislation)

Value of Transaction	Proposed Filing Fee <sup>1</sup>
Less than $161.5 million	$30,000
$161.5 or more but less than $500 million	$100,000
$500 million or more but less than $1 billion	$250,000
$1 billion or more but less than $2 billion	$400,000
$2 billion or more but less than $5 billion	$800,000
$5 billion or more	$2,250,000

Statutory waiting periods

- General rule
  - Cannot close a reportable transaction until the waiting period is over
  - The duration of the waiting period is prescribed by the HSR Act
- Initial waiting period
  - 30 calendar days generally
  - 15 calendar days in the case of—
    - a cash tender offer, or
    - acquisitions under § 363(b) of bankruptcy code
- Extended waiting period
  - Waiting period extended by issuance of a second request in initial waiting period
  - Waiting period extends through—
    - Compliance by all parties with their respective second requests
    - PLUS 30 calendar days (10 calendar days in case of a cash tender offer)
- Investigating agency may grant early termination of a waiting period at any time<sup>1</sup>

HSR Act violations

■ HSR Act prohibition

- The HSR Act provides that “no person shall acquire, directly or indirectly, any voting securities or assets of any other person” in a reportable transaction without observing the filing and waiting period requirements<sup>1</sup>
- The HSR regulations provide that a person holds (acquires) voting securities or assets when it has a “beneficial interest” in them<sup>2</sup>

■ Two basic types of violations

- Failure to file: Failing to file an HSR report and observe the waiting period requirements in a reportable transaction
- Gun jumping: Filing a HSR report but exercising influence over the target’s decision making sufficient to indicate the transfer of a beneficial interest in the target before the end of the waiting period

■ Can be expensive

- $43,792 per day for every day of the violation—Equals $16.0 million per year<sup>3</sup>

<sup>3</sup> 86 Fed. Reg. 2539 (Jan. 13, 2021) (increasing civil penalty from $43,280 to $43,792 per day effective January 13, 2021, pursuant to the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act Improvements Act of 2015, Pub. L. No. 114–74, § 701, 129 Stat. 599 (2015) (requiring a catch-up CPI inflation adjustment from the date of the statute’s enactment)).

Failure to file

■ Violation

- ❑ Failing to file an HSR report and observe the waiting period requirements in a reportable transaction

■ Scenarios

1. Failure to file at all

- Intentional failure to file
- Inadvertent failure to file
- Improper invocation of an exemption (usually the investment exception)

2. Filing an insufficient report (e.g., a report that is incomplete because it does not contain all Item 4(c) and 4(d) documents)

■ Prosecutorial discretion

- ❑ Vigorous enforcement for intentional failures to file
- ❑ “One-bite” rule for inadvertent failures to file
  - No enforcement action on first failure
  - Enforcement actions on subsequent failures
- ❑ Fines vary with culpability in invoking exemption

“Gun jumping”

■ Violation

- The FTC takes the position that a person has a beneficial interest in the voting securities or assets of the target company within the meaning of the HSR Act when the person can exercise a material degree of management influence on the current (preclosing) operations of the target
  - Especially influence in decisions regarding how to compete in the marketplace
- Exercising this influence prior to the end of the waiting period is called “gun jumping”
  - Violates the HSR Act, regardless of effect on competition, because, for HSR Act purposes, the acquiring company has acquired the target without observing the waiting period—subjects the acquiring company to a civil penalty of $43,792 per day (in 2021)
  - May also violate Section 1 of the Sherman Act if the influence creates an anticompetitive effect in the marketplace (e.g., the coordination of bids by merging competitors)
  - The acquiring person cannot violate the HSR Act after the waiting period has expired, but it can still violate the Sherman Act if the transaction has not closed

Initial Waiting Period Investigations

Preliminaries

- Parties must file their respective HSR forms with both the DOJ and the FTC
  - Separate forms are required for each reporting person
- FTC Premerger Notification Office review
  - Only for technical compliance on form—no review of substance
  - Allocated to DOJ or FTC for review through agency “clearance” process
  - Responsible agency assigns to litigating section for substantive review

“Clearance” process

- DOJ and FTC decide which, if either, of the agencies will do the investigation (“clearance”)
  - “Liaison agreement” between DOJ and FTC to prevent duplicative investigations
    - If neither DOJ nor FTC want to open a preliminary investigation—PNO grants early termination of the waiting period
    - If DOJ or FTC (but not both) want to open a preliminary investigation—Requesting agency gets clearance to open investigation
    - If both DOJ and FTC want to open a preliminary investigation—Agencies negotiate to allocate the investigation based on prior experience with the industry or the merging parties (and which agency got the last contested clearance)
- Process can be fraught with strategic behavior by agencies
  - In extreme cases, “clearance battles” can last until the last day of the initial waiting period
  - Efforts to reform “clearance” process by allocating specific industries to specific agency have failed miserably
    - Neither agencies nor their respective congressional oversight committees want to relinquish jurisdiction over any type of merger

Initial contact by investigating staff

- Usually occurs 7-10 days after filing
- Three purposes
  1. Inform parties of the investigation and introduce the investigating staff
  2. Request that the parties provide certain information to the staff on a voluntary basis—
    - Most recent strategic, marketing and business plans
    - Internal and external market research reports for last 3 years
    - Product lists and product descriptions
    - (Perhaps) competitor lists and estimates of market shares
    - Customer lists of the firm's top 10-20 customers (including a contact name and telephone number)<sup>1</sup>

The request is usually made orally in the first telephone call from the staff and then followed in writing in what is called a voluntary access letter or (equivalently) voluntary request letter<sup>2</sup>
  3. Invite the parties to make a presentation to the staff on the competitive merits of the transaction

<sup>1</sup> The agencies do not ask for customer lists in transactions involving consumer goods sold in retail stores, because the agencies do not believe that retail customers lack the knowledge and sophistication to make good predictions about the competitive effect of the merger.

<sup>2</sup> The DOJ has published a model voluntary access letter, which is also included in the required reading.

Initial merits presentation

- Critical to do completely, coherently, and quickly
  - Often a large “first mover” advantage in being the first to give the staff a systematic, coherent way to think about the transaction
  - Well-prepared business people are the best to present
    - Agencies not impressed with “testifying” lawyers—especially outside counsel
  - Need to anticipate and answer staff questions
  - Need to clear and compelling
    - Cannot win on an argument that the staff does not understand or finds ill-supported
  - Need to anticipate and be consistent with what the staff is likely to hear from customers
    - Staff is strongly biased to accepting customer view in the event of an inconsistency
  - Need to do quickly
    - By the time of the initial call from the investigating staff, usually about one-third of the initial waiting period will be over

The best presentations anticipate all of the issues the staff will raise, provide answers that are supported by company documents and consistent with customer perceptions, and have all of the facts right. Ideally, the rest of the investigation needs to do no more than defend the analysis of the first presentation.

Initial merits presentation

- Ideal structure (when the facts fit)
  1. Provide an overview of the parties and the transaction
    - Identify other jurisdictions in which the transaction is reportable
  2. Provide an overview of the industry (if the staff is not familiar with the industry)
  3. Explain the business model driving the transaction
    - The deal is procompetitive—a win-win for the company and for customers
    - “We make the most money by providing more value to customers, improving productive efficiency, and reducing costs without reducing product or service quality”
    - Essential to give a compelling reason for doing the deal that is not anticompetitive
  4. Identify the customers benefits implied by the business model
    - Customers will be better off with the transaction than without it
    - Agencies give little or no credit in the competitive analysis to efficiencies or cost savings that are not passed along to customers
  5. Explain why market conditions would not allow the transaction to be anticompetitive in any event
    - “We could not raise price even if we wanted. Customers have alternatives to which they can turn to protect themselves in the event we try to raise price or otherwise harm them.”
    - Alternatives can be other current suppliers, firms in related lines of business that can expand their product lines, new entrants, or customer self supply (vertical integration)
    - NB: Critical that customers confirm that the “alternatives” are in fact realistic suppliers

Customer/competitor interviews by staff

- Will occupy the bulk of the remaining time in the initial investigation
- Customer views are given great weight
  - Theory: The purpose of the antitrust laws is to protect customers from competitive harm, and sophisticated customers should have a good idea of whether they will be competitively harmed by the transaction under review
  - Staff will attempt to call all of the contracts on the customer lists provided by the merging companies in response to the initial voluntary request
  - Staff often will accept customer complaints uncritically but question customer support
  - Customer reactions may differ depending on the position of the contact person
    - For example, the CEO of a customer may take a broader and more nuanced view of the transaction than a procurement manager who only sees the loss of an independent supplier
- Competitor conclusions are given little weight
  - Theory: Anticompetitive transactions are likely to benefit competitors by raising market prices, so competitor complaints are more likely the result of concerns about procompetitive efficiencies than anticompetitive effect—and the agencies know this
  - But competitor interviews can be useful in understanding more about the industry
    - Complaining competitors are often willing to spend considerable time educating the staff
    - Customers usually just want the staff to go away unless they strongly oppose the deal

End of the initial waiting period

■ Three options for the agency

1. Close the investigation

2. Issue a second request

■ Most important factors—

- ❑ Incriminating company documents
- ❑ Significant customer complaints
- ❑ Four or less competitors postmerger for horizontal transactions (5→ 4 deals)
- ❑ Merging parties are uniquely close competitors to one another (“unilateral effects”)
- ❑ Merger eliminates a disruptive firm (a “maverick”)
- ❑ Obvious significant foreclosure possibilities (for vertical transactions)

NB: Any one of these factors can be sufficient to trigger a second request investigation

■ A second request must be authorized—

- ❑ By the assistant attorney general (typically delegated to a deputy assistant attorney general)
- ❑ By the Federal Trade Commission (typically delegated to the chairman or a commissioner)

3. Convince the parties to “pull and refile” their HSR forms to restart the initial waiting period

- Typically used when the initial investigation to date indicates no problem but requires a some limited additional time to complete customer interviews
- The agency usually grants early termination in the middle of the second initial waiting period<sup>1</sup>

Second Request Investigations

The second request

- HSR Act authorizes the investigating agency to issue one request for additional information and documentary material (a “second request”) during the initial waiting period to each reporting party
- Issuance of a second request extends waiting period until—
  - All parties comply with their respective second requests, and
  - Observe a final waiting period (usually 30 days) following compliance

Second request investigations

- Second request
  - Blunderbuss request
    - If you can only ask once, ask for everything
    - DOJ and FTC each have “model” second requests, but them typically customized their requests with additional specifications
    - Covers e-mail and other electronic documents
  - Typically takes 6-16 weeks to comply (but some companies take much longer)
    - Often covers 60-120 custodians
      - Agencies are making meaningful efforts to reduce this number—target 30-35
    - Interrogatories, including:
      - Detailed sales data
      - Bid and win/loss data
      - Requirements for entry into the marketplace
      - Rationale for deal
    - Document requests, including:
      - Business, strategic and marketing plans
      - Pricing documents
      - Product and R&D plans
      - Documents addressing competition or competitors
      - Customer files and customer call reports
    - Non-English language documents must be translated into English

Second request investigations

- Depositions of business representatives of parties
  - Often 3-5 employees for each party
    - Often senior person knowledgeable about U.S. sales and competition for U.S. customers
    - Can include sales representatives for key accounts
    - R&D directors (if R&D is important to defense)
  - Location: Washington, D.C.
  - Can be compelled
    - Civil Investigative Demand (CID) by the DOJ
    - Subpoena by the FTC
  - Transcribed and under oath
  - Typically each lasts 6-8 hours (but can last longer)
- Documents and testimony from customers and competitors
  - Testimony will be memorialized in a sworn affidavit
- Expert economic analysis
  - By experts retained by the parties
  - By agency experts
    - Or, in investigations where litigation is foreseeable, by outside experts retained by agency

The final arguments

- Four formal meetings at the end of the investigation

	DOJ	FTC
Meeting 1	Investigating staff	Investigating staff
Meeting 2	Section Chief & staff	Assistant Director & staff
Meeting 3	Deputy Assistant Attorneys General (legal and economics)	Directors meeting (Bureau of Competition/ Bureau of Economics)
Meeting 4	Assistant Attorney General	Five FTC Commissioners (meet individually)

- Numerous informal meetings can occur up the chain at the end of the investigation
- Critical question: How much of its analysis will the investigating staff disclose to the parties so that they can address them at the meetings?

Final waiting period

■ Timing

- Begins when all parties have submitted proper second request responses
  - Exception: In open market transactions, timing depends only on when the acquiring person complies (to avoid delaying tactics by the target in hostile transactions)
- Ends 30 calendar days later
  - 10 days in a cash tender offer

■ The final waiting period is often too short to complete the investigation

- Given the time it takes—
  - For the investigating staff to analyze information and documents submitted by the parties in response to their second requests
  - For the investigating staff to finalize its analysis and recommendation, and
  - For agency management to review the staff's recommendation and make a decision on the disposition of the investigation
  - Conclusion: The final waiting period provides too little time for the agency to make an informed decision

Timing agreements

- “Timing agreements”
  - Concept
    - Contractual commitments by the merging parties not to close the transaction for a period of time after the expiration of the HSR Act waiting period
  - Agencies like to negotiate timing agreements early in a second request investigation so that they know how much time they have before the deal can close to complete their investigation
  - Typically will accept 60 days beyond the normal expiration of the waiting period
    - 30 days for the staff (making a total of 60 for the staff after second request compliance)
    - 30 days for the front office
  - Parties typically agree to a timing agreement—but negotiate the duration
    - Provides additional time for agency to complete investigation
    - May be necessary to complete meetings to enable the merging parties to make their arguments before senior agency management and the AAG/Commissioners
      - In the absence of a timing agreement, all of the staff’s efforts in the last month or so of the investigation will be devoted to building a case for a preliminary injunction, not to objectively analyzing the merits of the transaction or have meetings to hear arguments
    - Usually better than being sued!
      - The investigating agency will sue to block the transaction if it cannot complete its analysis before the transaction closes
    - May be necessary if a consent decree is being negotiated

Timing agreements

- A timing agreement does not technically extend the HSR Act waiting period
  - Surprisingly, many members of the bar (and some attorneys in the enforcement agencies) believe that the parties can voluntarily “extend” the HSR Act waiting period
  - The FTC Premerger Notification Office’s position, on advice from the FTC General counsel, is that the waiting period is set by statute and cannot be extended by agreement, although the parties can commit by contract not to close the transaction before a certain time
  - Timing agreements are enforceable in court through contract or detrimental reliance, not as a violation of the HSR Act
    - I am unaware of any instance where the parties have breached a timing agreement and so there is no enforcement precedents
    - However, there is little doubt that a court faced with a breach would summarily enforce the timing agreement through an injunction for specific performance
  - The fact that a timing agreement does not extend the HSR Act waiting period has significant implications for “gun-jumping” violations, which cannot occur after the waiting period has ended

Merger Review Outcomes

Possible outcomes in DOJ/FTC reviews

Close investigation

- Waiting period terminates at the end of the investigation with the agency taking no enforcement action, or
- Agency grants early termination prior to normal expiration

Litigate

- DOJ: Seeks preliminary and permanent injunctive relief in federal district court
- FTC: Seeks preliminary injunctive relief in federal district court
Seeks permanent injunctive relief in administrative trial

Settle w/consent decree

- Typical resolution for problematic mergers
- DOJ: Consent decree entered by federal district court
- FTC: Consent order entered by FTC in administrative proceeding

Parties terminate transaction

- Parties will not settle at the agency's ask and will not litigate, or
- Agency concludes that no settlement will resolve the agency's concerns and the parties will not litigate
  - Examples: AT&T/T-Mobile, NASDAQ/NYSE Euronext
