09/29/2020	442	ORDER: IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the FTC's motion for a preliminary injunction (Doc. 137) is GRANTED. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants are hereby enjoined and restrained, under Section 13(b) of the Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. § 53(b), from completing the proposed joint venture, or otherwise effecting the combination of mining assets in Wyoming and Colorado, until the completion of the administrative proceedings evaluating the proposed transaction now pending before the FTC. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants shall take any and all necessary steps to prevent any of their officers, directors, domestic or foreign agents, divisions, subsidiaries, affiliates, or partnerships from consummating, directly or indirectly, any such joint venture, or otherwise effecting any combination between Defendants. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants are directed to maintain the status quo until either: (1) the completion of all legal proceedings by the FTC challenging the transaction, including all appeals, or (2) further order of the Court, including upon the request of the FTC, before completion of such legal proceedings. IT IS FINALLY ORDERED that this Court shall retain jurisdiction of this matter for all purposes and for the full duration of this Order, as provided in the previous paragraph. Dated this 29th day of September, 2020. Signed by District Judge Sarah E. Pitlyk on 9/29/2020. (KEK) (Entered: 09/29/2020)

10/05/2020	449	MEMORANDUM OPINION - CONCLUSION: Having considered all of the evidence presented in this case, the Court cannot help but return to Judge Tatel's observation in Whole Foods: "[T]here can be little doubt that the acquisition of the second largest firm in the market by the largest firm in the market will tend to harm competition in that market." Whole Foods, 548 F.3d at 1043 (Tatel, J., concurring) (citation omitted) (internal quotation marks omitted). The FTC has satisfied its burden of showing a "reasonable probability" that a JV between the two largest SPRB coal suppliers would harm competition in the SPRB coal market. Brown Shoe, 370 U.S. at 325. The JV is likely to cause unduly high market concentration in the market for SPRB coal, which, despite the headwinds facing the coal industry, is projected to continue supplying a significant portion of the fuel for electricity generation in the United States for decades to come. 18 The evidence offered by Defendants to rebut the FTC's prima facie case makes clear that there is meaningful competition between SPRB coal and other fuels, but it does not rebut the FTC's central claim that there is meaningful coal-on-coal competition that would be lost if the parties were allowed to consummate the JV. The equities also favor granting a preliminary injunction. The FTC has thus succeeded in showing that, weighing the equities and considering the Commissions likelihood of ultimate success, [the preliminary injunction] would be in the public interest." Tenet Health, 186 F.3d at 1051 (quoting 15 U.S.C. § 53(b)). Accordingly, the Court grants the FTC's Motion for Preliminary Injunction (Doc. 137). A separate order accompanies this Memorandum Opinion.
