Sabre Corporation Issues Statement on its Merger Agreement with Farelogix

SOUTHLAKE, Texas – May 1, 2020 – Sabre Corporation, the leading software and technology company that powers the global travel industry, today issued the following statement from Sabre President and CEO Sean Menke regarding its merger agreement with Farelogix:

“Sabre and Farelogix have agreed to terminate the parties’ merger agreement, which expired at midnight on April 30. We continue to believe that the transaction was not anti-competitive, a result confirmed by the U.S. federal district court’s decision in Sabre’s favor. Unfortunately, the United Kingdom’s Competition and Markets Authority (CMA) – acting outside the bounds of its jurisdictional authority – has prohibited the transaction. We strongly disagree with the CMA’s decision.

“We remain committed to our long-term goal of creating a new market for personalized travel. Positioned at the center of the business of travel, Sabre is a critical component of the travel ecosystem. We are uniquely situated to create solutions that expand the distribution access of rich content via the Global Distribution System (GDS) marketplace and also help airlines create personalized offers for their customers, including the development of NDC-enabled solutions.”
